

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A holder includes a handle, an extension rod having a first end combined with a first end of the handle, a threaded rod mounted in the handle, a control unit mounted in the handle and movably mounted on the threaded rod.

5 a guide seat mounted on a second end of the extension rod, and an elastic plate mounted on the guide seat and having two ends each extended through the guide seat into the handle and each mounted on the control unit to move therewith. Thus, the holder can be used to hold and clamp articles of different sizes and shapes, thereby enhancing the versatility of the holder.